

Risks of investing on Fundlift

Investing on Fundlift is characterised by significantly increased issuer risk and also other risks. Investment instruments offered through Fundlift are not listed on any market and the Issuer is usually a small or medium-sized legal entity, often at an early stage of the development of the company, which is at high risk of default.

By agreeing to these Fundlift Terms and Conditions, the Investor is aware that it may lose some or all of the investment, so the investment through Fundlift should not constitute a significant part of its assets or a significant part of the total funds invested.

Roklen as a mother company of Fundlift does not provide any investment recommendation and does not provide investment advisory regarding investment instruments traded on Fundlift. Investor places investment orders solely at his own will and from his own initiative.

Investor hereby acknowledges and agrees that Roklen could not properly assess the adequacy of the services provided and the transaction being negotiated in relation to the Investor's experience and knowledge. Therefore, Roklen could not assess whether the selected investment is appropriate for the Investor. Nevertheless, the Investor wishes to use the services of Roklen, wants to place an order to invest and is aware of all the risks included.
